THE RED MEN TO MEET IN NEWBERRY IN 1915

BERGELL TRIBE PROMINENT IN ROCK HILL.

Great Chiefs in Annual Session—A Pleasant and Profitable Meeting.

Special to The Herald and News.

Rock Hill, April 15.—The next session of the Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men of South Carolina will be held in Newberry. The meeting comes next April, and this means also that the Great Council of the Daughters of Pocahontas will be in Newberry, too. The invitation on behalf of Newberry was extended by Mr. Eugene S. Blease, for Bergell tribe.

In selecting Newberry as the place of next meeting, the Great Council paid a signal honor to Newberry. Other towns and cities desired the Great Council, but when the sentiment of the members was observed, they withdrew their invitations in favor of the best city in the State.

The Great Council session in Rock Hill was one of the most pleasant and profitable which the Red Men in South Carolina have ever held. Great Chief of Records Wilson Brooks, of Chicago, who attended as the personal representative of the great inchoonee, congratulated the Great Council especially upon the fact that during all the elections and upon every motion there was no division—the Great Council being unanimous in every action which it took. The retiring great sachem, Mr. E. H. Aull, of Newberry, was most heartily congratulated upon this fact by the acting great inchoonee when the great chiefs were installed.

Newberry has long been prominent in the Great Council. In fact, Bergell Tribe, in the matter of men whom she has furnished to the Great Council, has been and will long be the banner tribe in the State. Among these men is the governor of the State. Another is a man beloved by all Red Men, and by everybody else who knows him—Hon. Otto Klettner. Another is the present retiring past sachem and now great prophet, Col. E. H. Aull.

Newberry next year—that is, Bergell tribe—will have two great representatives in the great council of the United States as regular representatives, and will have another as a member of the great council of the United States, at its meeting in Portland, Maine. Governor Blease and Hon. Otto Klettner were reelected great representatives, and Mr. E. H. Aull, the retiring great sachem, was chosen by the great council, along with the great chief of records, Mr. B. C. Wallace, of Sumter and Mr. S. M. Clarkson, of Columbia, retiring great keeper of wampum, to attend the great council of the United States at the expense of the great council of South Carolina.

The other great representative reelected was Dr. J. P. Carlisle, of Greenville. Col. Jas. G. Long, of Union, was elected last year for two years.

In the matter of committee appointments, Bergell tribe also fared well. Judge J. H. Chappell was appointed chairman of the committee on constitution and law. Mr. John K. Aull was appointed for three years on the great board of appeals. Mr. E. L. Rodelberger was already a member of this board. Mr. B. B. Leitzey was reappointed chairman of the committee on returns and elections. Great Representative Otto Klettner is secretary of the State orphans' board. Sheriff C. G. Blease is one of the great trustees.

The entertainment afforded by Rock Hill was all that could be desired. The following account from the Columbia State will show something of the meeting:

Rock Hill, April 14.—The Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men, Reservation of South Carolina, elected chiefs at the annual meeting held in the wigwam of Calumet tribe, No. 36, in this city this morning.

The following were elected: Great Sachem, A. E. Hill, Spartanburg; great senior sagamore, O. D. Gray, Williamston; great junior sagamore, Max G. Bryant, Rock Hill; great chief of records, B. C. Wallace, Sumter; great keeper of wampum, W. M. Allen, Greenville; great prophet, E. H. Aull, Newberry; trustees, R. L. Cromer, Union; F. C. Garner, Columbia; great representatives, Otto Klettner, Newberry; Cole L. Blease, Columbia; J. P. Carlisle, Greenville; J. G. Long, Union; E. H. Aull, retiring great sachem; B. C. Wallace, great chief of records, and S. M. Clarkson, great keeper of wampum were sent to the great council of the United States at Portland, Me. at the expense of the great council.

Newberry was selected as the place for the next annual meeting.

The great council adjourned this evening, the business of the meeting having been largely disposed of already. Routine business, in addition to the election of chiefs and selection of next place of meeting, was given attention this morning.

A Public Meeting.

The first meeting of the great council was a public meeting held in the opera house Monday evening, when addresses of welcome were made to the visiting Red Men and the Daughters of Pocahontas and responses to the addresses of welcome and a speech by the governor were the features of the occasion.

Music for the occasion was furnished by an orchestra, and following the opening programme of selections, Dr. P. B. Wells, pastor of St. John's M. E. church, offered the invocation. Max G. Bryant, a Rock Hill member of the order and chairman of the local committee of entertainment, presided. On behalf of the city, Mayor C. W. F. Spencer made the address of welcome, which was replete with happy expressions of good will for the visitors. He was followed by W. P. Smith, who made the address of welcome for the fraternal orders of Rock Hill. These orders, Mr. Smith said, are more than 2,000 strong, and he spoke for each order and for every member in bidding the Red Men welcome to the city.

Col. E. H. Aull of Newberry, great sachem of the great council, responded to the addresses of welcome on behalf of the order, and Mrs. A. Memminger of Charleston, great Pocahontas, responded for the Daughters of Pocahontas. Both addresses were heard with interest and received with applause.

The governor was presented to the audience and spoke for about 20 minutes, confining his remarks chiefly to the principles of the order of Red Men.

At the morning session of the great council, Wilson Brooks of Chicago, great chief of records, representing the great inchoonee, was presented and made an address to the order, which was greatly enjoyed by the Red Men.

The down pour of rain during the day prevented the carrying out of plans for some of the entertainment which had been provided for the visitors. Chief of these was the athletic programme planned by the association of mill operatives of the Arcade and Victoria mills, which had to be abandoned on account of the rain.

In the afternoon the Red Men and Daughters of Pocahontas were taken to Winthrop college, where a reception was tendered them by President D. B. Johnson and members of the faculty and students. This proved to be one of the features of the entertainment of the visitors, as all were delighted with the institution and the cordial reception given them.

The Final Feature.

The conclusion of the festivities attendant upon the session of the great council came this evening, with a banquet to the visitors in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce. The programme of speeches follows:

E. A. Hill, great sachem, "The Red Man a Factor in Humanity;" Dr. P. B. Wells, "Sunshine and Shadow;" Wilson Brooks of Chicago, "The Great Council of the United States;" and the governor, "South Carolina, the Land of Sunshine and Prosperity."

The great council sessions closed this afternoon.

The new great sachem of the Improved Order of Red Men is Hon. A. E. Hill of Spartanburg, who is solicitor of the Seventh judicial circuit and is one of the most popular and able members of the order in the State. The retiring sachem, Hon. E. H. Aull of Newberry, is well known as a newspaper man and leader in fraternal circles.

An unprecedented action by the great council was the election of M. G. Bryant of this city as great junior sagamore without opposition, something which, it is said, never before occurred in the election of a chief of the great council in this reservation. Mr. Bryant is a merchant here.

Mrs. C. A. Bouknight Elected Great Pocahontas.

Rock Hill, April 15.—After meeting here in conjunction with the great council of Red Men of the reservation of South Carolina, the great council of the Daughters of Pocahontas adjourned Wednesday morning to meet next in Newberry on the second Tuesday in April, 1915.

The following named council officers were elected Tuesday afternoon and installed Tuesday night:

Tales Turned.

Detroit Free Press.

Prof. Thomas R. Lounsbury, of Yale is a foe to the purist and the pedant. He who insists on saying "Tomorrow will be Thursday" will find no champion in Professor Lounsbury.

On a New England vacation the professor, gazing out across the lake one sultry afternoon, remarked:

"It looks like rain."

A pedant was rocking in a rocking chair nearby.

"What looks like rain, Professor?" he chuckled. "Ha, ha! I've got you there! What looks like rain?"

"Water," Professor Lounsbury answered coldly.

On a Parity Line Perhaps.

"Why not?"

"Line's busy."

Huerta Must Salute Flag Or Take the Consequences

THE MEXICAN DICTATOR GIVEN FINAL WARNING

PRESIDENT SEEMS SURE OF HIS COURSE.

Wilson Lets it be Known That Time Has Come to Check Mexican Insults.

Washington, April 15.—With a majority of the ships of the American navy under orders today to proceed immediately to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of Mexico, the United States government gave Provisional President Huerta final warning that unless a salute were fired to the Stars and Stripes, within a reasonable time, to atone for "repeated offenses against the rights and dignity of the United States," serious eventualities would result.

It was learned tonight that Gen. Huerta, when notified by Charge O'Shaughnessy of the proposed demonstration of the Atlantic fleet, argued that the episode growing out of the arrest of American bluejackets at Tampico was a fit subject for arbitration at The Hague, and said that he would appoint a commission to investigate the incident. President Wilson, in an emphatic reply, through Charge O'Shaughnessy, is understood to have told Gen. Huerta that the time for delay and evasion had passed and the American government would temporize no longer. Administration officials hold that insults to the flag and questions of national honor are not subjects for arbitration.

All information, official and otherwise, that reached Washington from Mexico City tended to show that Gen. Huerta was unconvinced that the United States was in earnest and thought the Washington government was bluffing. Some anti-American demonstrations at Vera Cruz and other points were reported.

A Determined Policy.

Developments here today show clearly that a determined and forceful policy had been adopted by the president, which would be backed up by congress and enforced if necessary by the American army and navy.

While expressing earnest hope for peace, the president unequivocally told members of the senate and house committee on foreign affairs that the offenses of the de facto government at Mexico City could no longer be tolerated and that unless Huerta complied with the American demands, seizure of the customs houses at Tampico and Vera Cruz and even the declaration of a pacific blockade shutting off commercial intercourse with the United States would be fully justified by precedents in international law.

It was established that no aggressive act, such as the landing of marines or the shelling of any towns or the seizure of any ports, would be undertaken after President Wilson had personally delivered a message on the subject.

The nearly unanimous approval that Republicans and Democrats gave the administrator's initial steps made it apparent, however, that should Rear Admiral Badger find drastic action necessary congress would back up the American navy without hesitation.

Huerta Informed.

After orders had been issued today for a naval demonstration on the Pacific coast of Mexico as well as on the Atlantic, Gen. Huerta was advised that the most powerful fighting force the American government ever has assembled on sea, carrying thousands of marines and bluejackets, is headed for the seaport towns of the southern republic ready to enforce to the extreme the American policy.

Upon Gen. Huerta depends the next developments. He has about a week in which to decide the question, for the warships will not reach Mexican waters for several days. Meanwhile the United States has notified all foreign governments of its attitude towards the Tampico incident and of the dispatch of the fleets to Mexican waters. This notification is in line with the previously announced policy of keeping foreign nations advised of all steps taken by the American government in the Mexican situation. The position of the administration, as the president explained it to members of the senate and house committees on foreign affairs, and as it was substantially reviewed in the notes sent to all foreign governments, is described in a statement given out during the day. The statement, which was prepared by high administration officials, follows:

"In discussions in official circles in Washington of the present Mexican situation the following points have been very much dwelt upon. It has been pointed out that, in considering the present somewhat delicate situation in Mexico, the unpleasant incident at Tampico must not be thought of alone. For some time past the de facto government of Mexico has seemed to think mere apologies sufficient when the rights of American citizens or the dignity of the government of the United States were involved, and has apparently made no attempt at either reparation or the effective correction of the serious derelictions of its civil and military officers.

"Immediately after the incident at Tampico an orderly from one of the ships of the United States in the harbor of Vera Cruz, who had been sent ashore to the postoffice for the ships' mail and who was in uniform and who had the official mail bag on his back, was arrested and put into jail by the local authorities. He was subsequently released and a nominal punishment inflicted upon the officer who had arrested him, but it was significant that an orderly from the fleet of the United States was picked out from the many persons constantly going ashore on various errands from the various ships in the harbor representing several nations.

"Most serious of all, the officials in charge of the telegraph office at Mexico City presumed to withhold an official dispatch of the government of the United States to its embassy at Mexico City until it should have been sent to the censor and his permission received to deliver it and gave the dispatch into the hands of the charge d'affaires of the United States only upon his personal and emphatic demand, he having, in the meantime, learned through other channels that a dispatch had been sent him which he had not received.

Studied Insults.

"It can not but strike anyone who has watched the course of events in Mexico as significant that untoward incidents such as these have not occurred in any case where representatives of other governments were concerned, but only in dealing with representatives of the United States, and that there has been no occasion for other governments to call attention to such matters or to ask for apologies.

"These repeated offenses against the rights and dignity of the United States, offenses not duplicated with regard to the representatives of other governments, have necessarily made the impression that the government of the United States was singled out for manifestations of ill will and contempt.

"The authorities of the state department are confident that when the seriousness and the cumulative effect of these incidents is made evident to the government of Mexico that the government will see the propriety and the necessity of giving such evidences of its desire to repudiate and correct these things as will be not only satisfactory to the government of the United States, but also an evidence to the rest of the world as an entire change of attitude. There can be no loss to the dignity of the de facto government in Mexico in recognizing in the fullest degree the claims of a great sovereign government to its respect."

More About Arrest.

More information describing the arrest of the American bluejackets at Tampico was revealed in the day's conferences at the White House and
